

SightLogix Appoints Core Products Group as Manufacturer's Representatives for Western Canada

Princeton, NJ – March 17, 2009 – SightLogix, maker of high quality outdoor automated surveillance and detection systems, has expanded its coverage in Western Canada by appointing Core Products Group, Inc., as its manufacturer's representative.

Dedicated exclusively to serving the security industry in Western Canada, Core Products Group maintains its headquarters, including a showroom and cutting-edge training facility, in Calgary, Alberta. It also operates a west coast branch office in Vancouver. Their areas of coverage include the British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba Territories, and the Yukon.

In making the announcement, Dan Hearn, SightLogix vice president of sales, spoke highly of Core Products Group, noting that its personnel are highly respected within the industry and widely regarded as seasoned professionals who assist consultants, end users, and integrators in making key decisions as to which security solutions best meet their needs.

“Our new relationship with Core Products Group,” said Hearn, “greatly strengthens our representation in the petroleum-rich western provinces of Canada and allows us to take advantage of their expertise in automated perimeter security design. Core Products Group already represents many of the most respected and innovative manufacturer's in the security field and we're pleased that they have added SightLogix to that elite group.”

Recognized as a leader in automated surveillance systems that provide efficient, cost-effective management of outdoor perimeters and buffer zones, SightLogix systems are currently in use throughout the world, providing critical infrastructure protection in applications that include Commercial Aviation, Petro-Chemical, DoD, FEDGOV, Electrical Utilities, Water/Waste Water, Data Centers, Ports, Borders, Universities, and Rail Transportation.
