

Sightlogix Names MAR Corporation as Manufacturers' Rep for US Pacific Northwest and Alaska

Princeton NJ – June 2, 2009 – SightLogix, maker of outdoor video analytics sensors for high-value/high-consequence infrastructure protection, today named MAR Corporation to serve as Manufacturer's Representative in the Northwestern U.S region comprising the states of Washington, Idaho, Oregon, Montana and Alaska. The rep firm, one of the area's most respected electronic security organizations for over three decades, maintains its headquarters in Tukwila, Washington.

MAR has earned a reputation for the strong technical support and expertise it offers architects, engineers, consultants, integrators and end-users in the sale, planning and design of security systems.

In announcing the MAR appointment, Dan Hearn, SightLogix vice president of sales, described the firm as having "the highest standing for service and responsiveness throughout the Northwestern States. SightLogix felt it was vital to have strong representation in this important geography," he continued, "and we're confident that MAR Corporation will support our continued growth in this region."

Among the nation's leaders in perimeter security systems that combine intelligent video surveillance for the outdoors with cost efficiency, SightLogix' solutions are currently in place in many locations around the globe, enhancing outdoor security for a wide variety of industries including utility, transportation, energy, chemical, information technology, public safety and defense.
